The Portfolio

THANH HAI

I wanted to create a modern portfolio that does not look like how a modern portfolio usually looks with boring navigation bar on top and even more boring way on how to scroll throughout the site.

I decided to use a grayscale theme for this website to make it look more sleek and unified, but there must be color in the portfolio section so that's why I used CSS to make the portfolio item grayscale-ish at first but will be colorized when you hovering over it.

After the first milestone, I made some changes to my website following what Steffi advised me to. I enhanced my navigation bar so that the pages get more connected and refined others elements.

I still having a hard-time deciding the picture for my main section cover and decided to choose some pictures of my works in the final moment.

I developed my own filterable portfolio javascript so It may not work great but it definitely do what it should for this assignment.
